

Presona's Quality Policy

As a company, Presona must be known for:

- guiding customers to the correct equipment,
- developing equipment that meets customers' requirements for output, reliability and safe use,
- producing and developing equipment that meets the given specifications and is delivered at the agreed time,
- offering customer support that ensures the minimum waiting time for customers who require repairs, maintenance and spare parts,
- and for being a learning organisation which works constantly to improve its products and services.
